A. Schulman Highlights Product Innovations and Material Expertise at NPE 2018

April 9, 2018

AKRON, Ohio, April 09, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- A. Schulman Inc. (Nasdaq:SHLM), a leading international supplier of high-performance plastic compounds, composites, and resins, will be presenting one of the broadest product ranges and latest innovations at NPE from May 7-11, 2018 in Orlando, Florida at Booth #S24023.

This year, A. Schulman will be showcasing its comprehensive product range of Masterbatches, Engineering Plastics, Engineered Composites, Specialty Powders and Distribution Service, spanning the packaging, mobility, building & construction, electrical & electronics, agriculture and sports, leisure & home markets.

Product highlights at NPE will include:

- Polybatch® EasyPour- improving the dispensing of liquids from stand-up pouches and other packaging designs to enhance the customer experience;
- A complete product range of Weatherable Polymers for some of the toughest outdoor applications;
- ECO-FLEX® RTPV- a recycled material that combines the ease of processing and cost-efficiency for TPV applications in areas like Lawn & Garden and Automotive;
- An extensive variety of PET Masterbatches for innovative packaging and customized solutions; and
- Bulk Molding Compounds (BMC)- delivering solutions to an industry historically dominated by cast iron.

A. Schulman will also be presenting their Inspired by Innovation series as part of the NPE Expert Supper Sessions located in the West Building. These presentations will review the latest trends and technologies addressing critical issues facing our markets today. This informative series consists of:

- Inspired by Innovation: Trends and Material Solutions for the Packaging Market;
- Inspired by Innovation: Trends and Material Solutions for the Building & Construction Market; and
- Inspired by Innovation: ECO-FLEX® RTPV, a Recycled Material Solution for TPV Applications.
